Bill Will Open Door To Wider Home Ownership

Legislation designed to open the door to much wider home ownership in California has been approved by the State Senate and assigned to a key Assembly committee.

The bill, SB 148, by State Senate Democratic Leader George Moscone, would authorize the state to sell up to $100 million in revenue bonds to provide low interest loans to the developers of planned unit developments. The units would consist of moderate and low income housing.

"This kind of desperately needed legislation could make available new housing to an entire spectrum of families whose income is between $8,000 and $15,000," said Senator Moscone. "The high cost of building materials and the great rise in interest rates in recent months have foreclosed home ownership to a vast number of Californians."

The Moscone legislation would allow the state to use its credit rating to borrow money and channel it to nonprofit or limited profit entities. The state loans would be repaid by payments from those occupying the housing.

"This is not a proposal that would result in a duplication of past governmental efforts," said Senator Moscone. "The planning established under the State commission would include recreational and open space factors, as well as building standards."

"The lower interest rates would allow new housing for qualified borrowers as much as $80 less than they would have been required to pay per month," noted the Senate Democratic Leader.

In addition to opening the housing market to those whose moderate incomes have frozen them out, the Moscone bill would also act as a stimulus to the housing market industry in California.

"We have been told there are more than 100,000 substandard housing units in California and that another 500,000 are overcrowded. It should be apparent to everyone that hundreds of thousands of elderly persons in this state are forced to live in inadequate housing, cramped into the inner city, unable to break out of the cycle of inflation," added Senator Moscone.

Similar legislation exists in more than 20 other states where its results are being declared very successful.

Committee Encouraging New Business

Appointment of Gentry E. McKinney of Pebble Beach as chairman of a blue-ribbon committee of Monterey Bay area business executive and industrialists was announced recently by Council of Monterey Bay President Harold E. Kren.

The newly established committee will serve independently of COMB as an advisory board to sift new venture proposals stimulated by "Project Local Development," a recently initiated activitiey of COMB designed to develop environmentally attractive small businesses in the Monterey Bay area communities.

COMB President Kren described "environmentally attractive businesses" as, small (under 300 employees), in scientific and technological fields as opposed to heavy manufacturing, and producing relatively high individual personal income levels.

"We also are seeking out inventive individuals who may, through our encouragement and support, organize new business which will headquarter here," Kren said.

Any inquiries regarding the program should be directed to COMB at 1321 Monterey/Salinas Highway, Monterey, California, 93940.

County Gets State Funds

State Controller Hugh Flournoy recently said he had distributed $13 million among counties, cities and school districts throughout the state as their first reimbursement from the State for local tax income lost through lowered assessments on open space lands.

"The full $13 million authorized by the Legislature for the 1972-73 reimbursement program actually fell $2,974,121 short of the total entitlement claimed," Flournoy said, noting that $15 million will be available for reimbursement during 1973-74, to be followed by $17 million in 1974-75.

The law gives school districts first claim on the available reimbursement funds, and this year 247 districts received their total claims of $7,171,452.

Monterey County received $62,805.

MCTA Oppose Supervisors' Pay Raise

A group of Monterey County Taxpayer Association members, calling themselves the Voters' Committee For Property Rights & Equitable Taxation, are circulating petitions throughout Monterey County in an effort to stop a 56.2 percent Board of Supervisors pay hike which would otherwise go into effect August 4th.

Under Section 3752, of the California Election Code, the Voters' Committee will attempt to gather signatures of 5,949 registered Monterey County voters, a figure which represents 10 percent of those voting for gubernatorial candidates in 1970.

Upon the presentation of the petitions bearing the required number of valid signatures, the Board would be obliged to suspend or rescind their $800 to $1,250 per month salary increase under Ordinance No. 1968, which they adopted on June 5, 1973, or put the decision to the voters at a special or regular election.

"They want a 56.2 percent pay increase!" states Voters' Committee Co-chairman John C. Rathbun. He continues, "Their attempted jump from $800 to $12,50 monthly plus an extra $100 each month for the chairman of the Board would raise the annual cost to taxpayers from $48,000 to $71,200. This pay hike should not be allowed at a time when we are all being asked to fight inflation, and the erosion of the dollar, during the current federal wage freeze."

Bertram F. Rudolph, Jr., president of the Monterey County Taxpayers' Association, offered the following supportive observation, "The members of the Board of Supervisors knew the term of office, its duties and the amount of salary when they asked for the votes that elected them. They should now serve their

Those wishing to circulate and/or sign the petitions may write to the MCTA, Box 2003, Salinas, Ca, 93901 or telephone 758-170 (Salinas), 624-6981 (Carmel), 394-2093 (Seaside), 633-2870 (Castroville), 722-1704 (Watsonville), 678-2847 (Soledad), 385-5314 (King City), 675-3855 (Gonzales) and 449-3341 (Salinas).

All petitions must be filed by Friday, August 3, 1973.

Mayor Bradley Is Sworn In On Steps Of L.A. City Hall

The new Mayor of Los Angeles, Tom Bradley, has promised the third largest city in the nation a "government that means what it says and says what it means."

He took the oath of office on the First Street steps of City Hall before a crowd estimated at 10,000, half-white, half-Black. The oath was administered by 82-year-old Earl Warren, former Chief Justice of the United States and governor of California, who first received a standing ovation led by Bradley.

In his inaugural speech, delivered without text or notes, Bradley paid tribute to Warren for his efforts in behalf of the "Constitution and the Bill of Rights" which "have left a lasting imprint on this country."

"The chance you have given me today," he told his listeners, "says more about this city's decency and its sense of fairness than a hundred declarations from a platform or a thousand proclamations.

"I intend to repay the chance you have given me by giving this city a chance, a chance to become the kind of city that we might leave to our children with pride instead of apologies. . .

"Let it be said that we built the kind of government that the decent, hardworking citizens of Los Angeles respected because it respected them."

He took office, he said, with a "commitment to merit and excellence." He rejected the notion that Los Angeles has "an inevitable rendezvous with decay and deterioration."

Bradley reiterated his determination to solve the city's many problems to which he had called attention in his two campaigns.

He had been the runoff candidate against incumbent Mayor Sam Yorty on both occasions, losing his first race four years ago when Yorty's racist attacks lost Bradley the votes he needed in the runoff.

Yorty used similar tactics in this campaign but could not dent the Bradley coalition comprised of Blacks, Chicanos, Jews and other white citizens of Los Angeles, who felt that 12 years of Yorty was more than enough.

Bradley, the city's first Black mayor, was its second Black city councilman when he took office in 1963.

He is a former police lieutenant and an attorney, earning his law degree during his tenure in the police department.

Former Mayor Yorty did not attend the inauguation. He and his wife were on a two-week vacation in Alaska.

John Dean III And Watergate

I have been practicing the law for some time now and over the years, as a trial attorney, I have had ample opportunity to cross-examine, in an adverse capacity, witnesses in both civil and criminal matters. I have also had occasion to watch informers sing under the sharp whip of aggressive and excellent prosecuting attorneys and have watched my own witnesses crumble and curdle under cross-examination by defense counsels in large and important accident cases.

But never in my life have I seen a performance such as that being presented to millions of viewers by John Dean III in the Watergate hearings. I don't want to be misunderstood on this point. I am not of the opinion that this hearing simulates a trial or good trial procedure. The whole hearing is a circus replete with innuendoes, estimates, guesses, hearsay and irrelevant statements. I get the feeling that the members of the Senate Select Committee feel duty bound to review over and over again the original statement made by Dean. I sometimes get the feeling they are really talking to their constituencies at home, showing them that they are on the job. The whole Watergate hearing has reduced itself to an exercise in futility--especially if we are going to be able to draw any serious conclusions from it and ultimately use its findings to impeach the President or force him to resign.

Too Much Sugar For A Dime

The hearing boils down to the old adage of "too much sugar for a dime." In other words, Dean is saying too much about too many people. I get the feeling sometimes that the whole hearing is part of the grand cover-up and an extenuation of the activities of the Administration in trying to water down the importance of

Home Federal Offers New Service To Small Businesses

Home Federal Savings and Loan has announced the development of a new savings service, the "A-Plus" program, specifically created to benefit small businesses and professional people.

The "A-Plus" program offers small businesses the opportunity to earn five percent annual interest, computed and compounded daily, on unused funds normally left unused in commercial checking accounts.

"Many business people keep several thousand dollars more than is necessary for daily operations in their checking accounts," said Kim Fletcher, Home Federal president. "This money earns them no interest; however, now, though the introduction of the "A-Plus" program, these idle funds can turn into a source of profit for the small businessmen," he added.

The system is very simple, according to Home Federal. In addition to the normal checking accounts which most companies maintain in commercial banks, small businesses can open the Home Federal "A-Plus" account. Idle funds are taken from the commercial checking account and placed into the "A-Plus" account. When money is needed, a telephone call to Home Federal authorizes prompt transferal of the desired amount to the commercial checking account. Home Federal sends out a receipt for each transaction, plus a quarterly statement.

The Association points to the fact that $1000 placed in this interest earning "A-Plus" account would earn $51.30 (5.13 percent annual) interest -- a sum not now available when funds are allowed to remain dormant in "top-heavy" commercian checking accounts.

The "A-Plus" account was field-tested in Home Federal's Clairemont branch with great success, according to Christ Osteen, Clairemont branch manager.

"We found," said Osteen, "that this was a particularly helpful service to the small business, who traditionally keeps too much money in his commercial checking account, money that could be earning five percent interest annually for him."

Having tested this program, Home Federal is now making the "A-Plus" account available throughout its 26 branches in Southern and Central California. The San Diego based Association, with over 1 billion dollars in assets, feels that this innovation will "greatly benefit the often forgotten small business clients."

ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

The Department of Labor recently predicted that the need for medical lab workers will double by 1980. People working in this field generally fall into three categories; medical technologists, technicians and assistants. They all cooperate to perform tests related to the detection, diagnosis and treatment of various diseases, usually working under the direction of pathologists or physicians specializing in clinical chemistry, microbiology and other biological sciences.

Training varies for each type of lab worker. The grend is to select technologists who have completed at least four years of college. Medical lab assistants, on the other hand, usually receive much of their training on the job. TODAY'S ARMY is probably the best bet for bright young people looking for a statr in this field. TODAY'S ARMY will send those who qualify to Fort Sam Houston in historic San Antonio, Texas for their technical training. While you're receiving your training, you'll earn $307.20 a month starting pay. It also provides room and board, medical and dental care and 30 days paid vacation every year. But more importantly, TODAY'S ARMY gives young people with desire and ability, a chance to start a whole new career.

Nine more peninsulans enlisted in TODAY'S ARMY during the month of June. They are: Guy Andrada, 1634 Kimball Ave., Seaside, who enlisted for the Airborne Option; Edward E. Dubravcak, 640 Elm Ave., Seaside, who was in the Delayed Entry Program and reported for active duty as a Military Policeman; Birt Johnson Jr., 1530 Mescal, Seaside, who enlisted for Data Communications Terminal Specialist in the Strategic Communications Command (STRATCOM); Johnnie R. Moore, 1729 Mendocino St., Seaside, was a prior service member that reenlisted for ADPS Machine Operations Specialist; Harald H. Forte, 105 Rabaul Rd., Ft. Ord, chose the $2500 bonus as his option and also chose the Combat Development Expermentation Command (CDEC) as his place of duty where he has a minimum guarantee of 16 months; Calvin S. Ledford, 1055 Wranlers Trail, Pebble Beach, enlisted for Data Communications Terminal Specialist in the U.S. Army Strategic Communications Command; Rodney J. San Nicolas, 455 Gloria Cir., Marina, reported from the Delayed Entry Program to active duty as a Personnel Specialist at Ft. Ord; Manuel C. Carvalho Jr., 1657-B Waring St., Seaside, also enlisted for the $2500 bonus and will work at Ft. Lewis, WA.; Alexander F. Usog, 3115 Bradley Ctr., Marina, enlisted for the Motor Transport Field and will be trained at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Reorganization Comes To Fort Ord

But when the clock ticked past midnight on Sunday, July 1, a new era was ushered in at Fort Ord. By August 1 it will be in effect throughout the United States Army.

It is the most sweeping and significant reorganization in the nation's oldest armed force in more than a decade.

The new organizational concept creates two new commands:

Forces Command (FORSCOM), which is responisble for the readiness of all deployable forces stationed in the United States. There are FORSCOM units at Fort Ord.

Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC), which is responsible for the training, education and combat development of Army forces. Because Fort Ord's primary mission is training, it is positioned under TRADOC.

The reorganization itself causes no physical movement for Fort Ord personnel. Basic and combat support training will continue, as will activities of the Combat Development Experimentation Command, and other units.

Perhaps the major impact at Fort Ord will focus on the installation commander, who will have both training (TRADOC) and readiness (FORSCOM) responsibilities, using the resources provided by both commands.

There are two major activities at Fort Ord, both responsible to the commander for its local operations, that also have Army-wide command channels that coordinate between Fort Ord and Health care, such as Silas B. Hays Hospital and other medical and veterinary missions will be under the Army Health Services Command.

The communications and electronics operations on the post will be a part of the Army Strategic Communications Command.

Under the present concept, the Combat Developments Experimentation Command at Fort Ord will be under the TRADOC Commander.

The reorganization will not be accomplished overnight. The completion goal is the end of 1973. After this shakedown period, additional changes or adjustments will be considered.

Ghe potential annual savings under the reorganization are an estimated $190 million Army-wide. Great emphasis is placed on better utilization of manpower and resources and modern management techniques.

The organizational changes recognize the prominence of the Fort Ord commander's support of activities outside the immediate geographical boundaries. State and regional areas have been drawn up for specific responsibilities. For example, the commander's responsibility for Army aircraft maintenance will be within certain perimeters, wile his scope of duties for disaster relief, ordnance disposal and other responsibilities will be either larger or smaller areas.

The commander will benefit from other aspects of the reorganization, not involving TRADOC or FORSCOM. As an example, Department of the Army has revamped its system of management of clubs and messes. While the commander continues his local control of these facilities, he may call upon a national Armu agency

The reorganization eliminates one element in the chain of command for Fort Ord. That is the Sixth U.S. Army Headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco. The Fort Ord commander will respond directly to TRADOC headquarters at Fort Monroe, Virginia.

Warns Of Holiday Fire Danger

State Forest Ranger Richard H. Bawcom on the California Division of Forestry, along with other fire agencies, plea for good common sense in the use of fireworks.

Bawcom has some tips which can make the Fourth of July asafe holiday. These include:

1. Don't buy fireworks if you live in a high fire danger grass, brush or timber covered area.

2. If you are going to provide them for the children, be sure they are used in a good safe location.

3. Don't allow children to throw them in the air. Thoses landing on a shingle roof are sure to cause a fire.

4. California State Law prohibits the use of all fireworks in forest, brush or grass-covered lands.

Silas B. Hays Hospital Shares Care With Navy

The Navy's friends here are the doctors, nurses and staff of Silas B. Hays Army Hospital at Fort Ord, who provide medical treatment to Navymen and their families that is beyond the capabilities of the Naval Postgraduate School Dispensary.

During a recent month, 59 members of Navy families were admitted to the hospital for emergency care, including surgery. Most patients, though, use out-patient facilities such as dermatology, obstetrics, orthopedics, neurology, pediatrics and radiology. In February, for example, active duty Navymen mad 417 visits to the hospital and dependents and retired Navymen over 1,200 visits.

According to recent patients, Hays Hospital, which carries a heavy Army case load, is doing an outstanding job of taking care of the Navy.

Lieutenant David Spring, senior medical officer at the Naval Supply Center in Oakland, Calif., explains, "I was visiting friends for a weekend and a mild game of baseball ended quickly when the ball landed in my eye instead of my glove. I was rushed to the school dispensary and referred to Silas B. Hays for treatment."

"The hospital facility and staff are excellent," concluded Dr. Spring after a week of treatment there. That's high praise from someone who'se usually on the other side of the bed.

David Gilley, son of Postgraduate School student LT(jg) Ed Gilley, recently was treated at the hospital for a hernia. "The tests for a hernia had me worried more than the operation," he says. Good food, however, was not a worry, he recalls.

More work to finish several of the display cases will be done over a period of time as funds become available.

In preparing for the presentation, Crispo has given a series of lectures on Folk Art at the Museum and the children's summer workshops are also based on International Folk Arts. To Docent Council is preparing to give gallery tours of the collection when the fall semester starts. Film Forum Slated At MPC

"The Movies as Industry and as Art" is a film forum designed to present first-hand accounts of the art, the effort, the problems and frustrations of movie-making.

Set for Saturday and Sunday, July 7 and 8, in the Monterey Peninsula College Theatre and Music Choral Room (M-10) from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, the forum will include filmmakers Ben Maddow, Alan Marcus, Les Goldman, Standish Lawder and film instructor and distributor Prescott Wright.

Maddow, a novelist, screenwriter and director, will speak on "The Uses of Narration in Dramatic and Documentary Forms." He is the screenwriter of the "Asphalt Jungle," "Instruder in the Dust," "The Savage Eye" and "The Balcony" among others. Maddow is currently working on a film treatment of "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee." Marcus will talk on "Muddling Through - Screenwriting as an Infantile Disorder," which is based on his commissioned and unproduced film script "Journey South" which includes Pauline Kael, film its admirers.

The director of the international award-winning film "The Hangmen" and producer of the Academy award-winner "The Dot and the Line," Les Goldman, will conduct a seminar on "The Art and Production of Animated Films." "Animation as Communication and Commerce" is the topic for Prescott Wright who is coordinator of the International Tournee of Animation and teaches film at California State University, San Francisco.

Standis Lawder whose experimental films "Corridor," "Necrology," "Specific Gravity" and "Raindance" have won numerous awards at various film festivals, including Monterey, will talk about his works, demonstrate the use of his home-made optical printer and the development of the independent, experimental film over the past decade.

In addition to the seminar sessions, there will be a public program in the Theatre Saturday at 8 p.m. with four of the Forum leaders. Maddow will introduce and show his "A Storm of Strangers," a personal, sympathetic history of immigrants in the U.S. from 1880 to 1914; Goldman will present "The Cosmic Bicycle," his recently completed animation fantasy; Lawder will explain the experimental techniques used in one of his prize-winning films; and Wright will introduce a selection of new, short animated films that reflect various international styles. This program is free to all Film Forum registrants, otherwise there is a $2 admission charge for this evening program.

The registration fee for the entire two-day forum is $15 general, or $7.50 students. For registration and information, contact the Film Forum at 375-9821, ext. 214.

the burglary of the Watergate apartments, the bugging of the Democratic Party headquarters and lead ultimately to the suppression of this evidence.

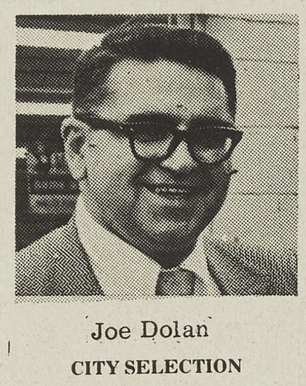
It is hard for me to believe that Dean's testimony was not prepared in collusion with some of the staff members of the persons he is accusing. Any other interpretation makes it impossible to understand how he could develop so much factual information and not have been discovered by these individuals during the accumulation of this evidence. What I see is that in Dean's testimony he has implicated so many people and has been so all-encompassing that the net effect is to discredit the whole affair and make those looking and listening conclude that such involvement was just a part of the total Washington scene.

Where Could A Case Be Tried?

One of the cardinal responsibilities of courts is to try cases in a setting of impartiality and have the triers of the fact--whether judge or jury--free from outside influence or prejudgment. If the prosecutions of those accused in Watergate are brought before a court anywhere in the United States, how will it be possible to argue the case or for a court to decide that the jurors--who have been exposed to weeks and weeks of rambling, incoherent and all-pervasive testimony--have not been influenced by this exposure and have not already made up their minds thus making fair trial possible. This is important, too, when we understand that under constitutional rights a defendant in a criminal case has the right to be tried by his peers in a setting in which the peers have not been exposed to the evidence in such a way that they would have already concluded his guilt or innocence.

If ever a case has been over-exposed, this one has. It is my belief that the net result of Dean's testimony will be a complete white-wash of the Administration, especially in regard to its ability to really root out the culprits in this deed and force them before the bar of justice in order to place the ultimate blame for these alleged illegal acts.

Your Mayor Reports



Joe Dolan

CITY SELECTION COMMITTEES

Several young people who are interested in becoming active members of the Seaside Youth Council have posed interesting questions regarding Regional Government. This report is for the purpose of providing additional background information regarding appointments of city representatives to AMBAG, LAFCO, Regional Planning Commissions, and Joint Power Agencies.

On December 13, 1972, a new state law became effective creating a City Selection Committee in each county and specifying its membership, powers and duties. The law establishes a City Selection Committee in every county in which there are two or more cities. The sole purpose of a City Selection Committee is to appoint city representatives such boards, commissions and agencies as may be required by law. The mayor of each city is a member of the City Selection Committee and if he is unable to attend a meeting, he is required to designate a member of the city council to attend and vote at the meeting in his place and as his representative.

The City Selection Committee is required to select a permanent Chairman and Vice-Chairman who serve for a term of two years. Currently Mayor Quinn of Pacific Grove is Chairman and Mayor Calabrese of Sand City is Vice-Chairman. The County Clerk is the permanent secretary and recording officer. All meetings must be conducted in the presence of the County Clerk or his deputy and the County Clerk is required to record, in writing, all votes and action taken by the City Selection Committee.

Representatives of a majority of the number of cities within the county constitutes a quorum of the committee. A quorum of members present is necessary for the City Selection Committee to make appointments or conduct its business. Committee members serve without compensations.

All voting, as well as actions taken by the Committee must be recorded and shall include the name of each member voting and how he voted. Written records and minutes are public records.

We believe that it is extremely important to maintain the policy of City Representation on Regional Agencies. The continuation of this policy will depend largely on the quality of those nominated by City Selection Committees and the devotion to duty of the nominees. The importance of the City Selection Committee cannot be overstated.

CHP Crackdown On Slow Drivers

Chances are you will be stopped by a California Highway Patrolman if you create a freeway bottleneck by driving too slowly in the left-hand or middle freeway lanes.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner, Walter Pudinski, said there is a need for stepping up enforcement to eliminate congestion problems and the accidents caused by drivers who clog freeways.

He pointed out that the California Assembly has identified the problem in a recent resolution which specifically dealt with the "unsafe practice of driving motor vehicles towing trailers. . .and certain motor trucks in the middle and left lanes of divided highways," creating hazards for other vehicles. The resolution also sought increased enforcement.

California law provides that vehicles with a maximum speed limit of 55 mph--including three-axle trucks and all vehicles towing trailers -- must be driven in the right-hand lane of the multi-lane roadways except when preparing to turn, and when passing must the lane immediately left of the right-hand lane, returning to the right-hand lane when the pass is complete.

"The law also requires any vehicle moving slower than the normal flow of traffic to be driven in the right-hand lane or as close as practicable to the right-hand edge of the road," the Commissioner emphasized.

Pudinski said all Patrol Field Commanders have been instructed to "take the appropriate enforcement action which will reduce violations as a necessary step in cutting down accidents and minimizing congestion."

The third workshop will be held from August 6-10 with two sessions from 10 a.m. to noon or 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and will feature Puppets taught by Carolyn and Charles Winans.

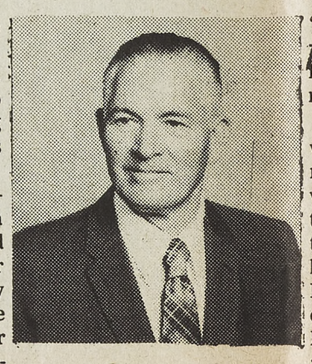
As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



Will Soviet Leader Leonid Brezhnev give up communism and stay in the United States? Would he turn down a cabinet post if Nixon offered it to him at a premium salary? Would the nuclear pact they agreed on a few days ago mean anything if either of them changed his mind? Does it really mean anything, anyway?

According to Prime Minister Kissinger, the declaration "was not a set of self-enforcing prohibitions on ultimate use of nuclear force, but a statement of intentions." This must be the most reassuring statement of 1973, because what it means is that Kissinger is slipping, or he never would have made it so clear that the whole agreement was not worth the paper it was written on. Or maybe it was a planned slip, something like the corny "captured enemy documents" ploy our forces used so effectively in Vietnam war news releases.

If it was planned slip, then it was intended to give us the message that our President was not really "selling us out" to the Russians, and I expect the Russians were just as happy to learn that Mr. Brezhnev did not sign Russia over to the hated Americans. But if the news about the agreement was supposed to relax the Chinese about a nuclear threat from Russia or the U.S., then the Prime Minister's statement blew the whole thing.

So, it then boils down eventually to this - are the Americans and the Russians finally showing some sense, which is not likely? Or is it all just window dressing for the fact that the Russians badly need some American products, and the Americans badly need some Russian petroleum products, and Richard Nixon is desperately in need of several things, including a better foreign trade outlook, an image, however false, that he cares about peace, and most of all something, almost anything, that will take up some newspaper space besides Watergate and his role in it.

And if Kissinger is slipping, that would be a step forward, because I think we have had about all the broken English foreign intrige we can afford, and I expect two or three average American housewives could visit some foreign countries and achieve peace and understanding a great deal quicker than has been taking place.

WHEN HEATING MILK a skin may form over the top of the milk. The home economists from the California milk industry tell us that to prevent this, simply cover the pan and use a moderate heat.

Women's Club Plans Annual Election

MAKE PLANS - Members of Monterey-Seaside Chapter of National Council of Negro Women's Clubs prepare for annual election of officers, which will be held Sunday, July 15, at Del Monte Manor Community Center Room.

The Monterey-Seaside Chapter of the National Council of Negro Women's Clubs will hold their Annual Election of officers at Del Monte Manor Community Center Room, Sunday, July 15, it was announced by it's president, Mrs. Marion C. Woodie.

The Chapter, which has members from Carmel, Ft. Ord, Salinas, Monterey and Seaside, will also discuss the plans for 1973-74, which includes the role Black Women will play in getting Blacks involved in the economic mainstreams of the country.

"We are still accepting donations for the Mary McCleod Bethune Memorial which will be erected in Washington, D.C.," Mrs. Woodie stated, "and we are rapidly reaching our goal."

The National Council has a membership of over 8 million Black women across the nation, with chapters in every major city in the U. S.

It was founded by Dr. Mary McCleod Bethune in 1935, who first recognized the need for united planning and concerted actions so that the greatest impact could be made.

"Today, more than ever before," Mrs. Woodie said, "there is an absolute necessity for Black women to become involved in community, city, state and national affairs which affect their well being and the well-being of the families.

"The need for constructive action in the United States is being pinpointed and identified in terms of helping people help themselves. The National Council of Negro Women can be one of the most potent forces in relieving physical suffering in this country where in the 70's the needs will be as great if not greater than in any post-war years," she said.

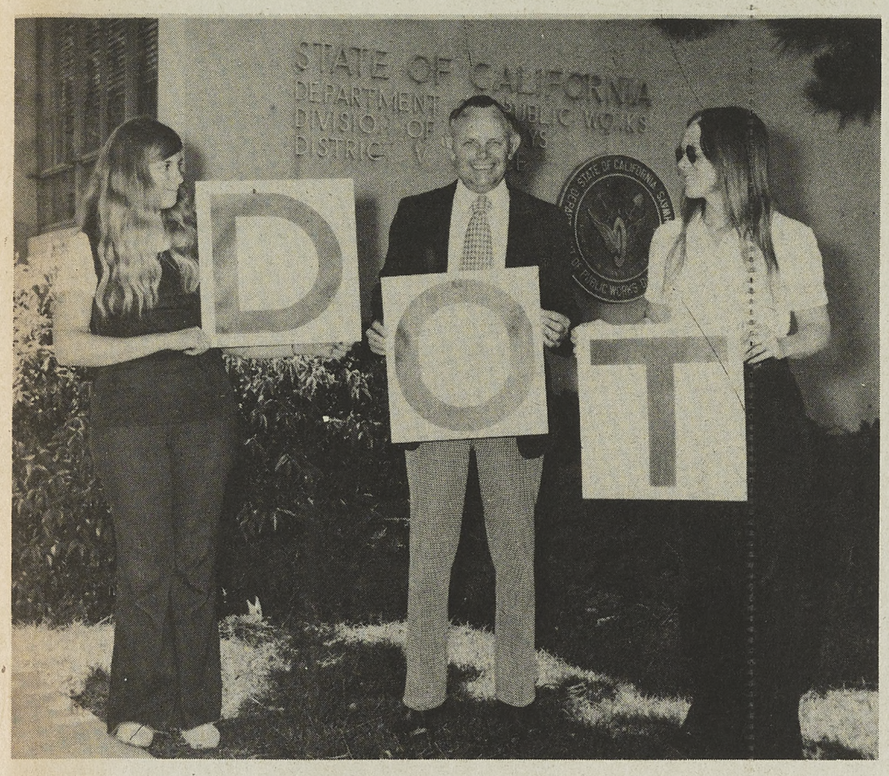
New Name For Public Works Department



TITLE CHANGE - District Engineer E. Frank Gregory of District Five office of Division of Highways, with help from Elaine Dolson (left) and Sue Collins of his office, dramatizes demise of Department of Public Works and creation of Department of Transportation. Gregory's new title is Director of Transportation for Transportation District Five, which includes San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo and Santa Barbara counties.

The California Department of Transportation became a reality on July 1. In 1972, Assembly Bill 69 creating the new Department, was passed and signed into law by Governor Reagan who commented that it "would give California a coordinated transportation system that will better serve the people now and in the future..."

The old Department of Public Works, which had been responsible solely for the highway program through the Division of Highways, no longer exists. Under the Department of Transportation new ideas and concepts in multi-modal transportation can be explored on a broader basis.

Five divisions will form the administrative structure of DOT. They are Aeronautics, Mass Transportation, Administrative Services, Legal, and Highways. The eleven Highway Districts will become Transportation Districts and will report directly to the Department's Director's Office rather than to the State Highway Engineer as in the past.

The new Department is charged by law with formulating, with the early and continued help of all recognized local and regional transportation planning agencies, a State Transportation Plan based upon area transportation plans that are best suited to area needs.

By April 1, 1975, all regional transportation plans must have been submitted to the Department of Transportation for inclusion in the State Transportation Plan. The State Plan will be presented to the State Transportation Board for the holding of public hearings and final submission to the Legislature by January 1, 1976.

It is hoped that the new Department of Transportation will provide a sound basis upon which all levels of government can effectively and intelligently cope with the growing complexities of providing an efficient, balanced transportation system to the people of this State.

CHP To Study Hitchhikers

Commissioner Walter Pudinski has announced that the California Highway Patrol has started a special statewide sixmonth research study of crimes and accidents caused by or associated with hitchhikers. He said the study is in accordance with a resolution introduced by Senator Lawrence E. Walsh, Chairman, Senate Transportation Committee, and adopted by the state senate.

City police and sheriffs' departments throughout California are requested by the resolution to submit a supplemental report to the Patrol on each incident involving a hitchhiker. The information required includes whether the hitchhiker was the civtim or suspect, extent of injuries, where he was traveling from and to and where he was picked up.

Bids For Work Are Requested

Two improvement projects are scheduled for Routes 1, 68 and 101 in Monterey County, according to bids being called by the California Division of Highways.

Work limits on Route 1 extend from a mile north of Dolan Road to Jensen Road, about two miles south of the Monterey/Santa Cruz County line. This is a 2.7-mile distance.

The two remaining locations are on Route 68. One of these begins a mile-and-ahalf east of Monterey and extends 2.6 miles easterly. The other begins just east of El Toro Creek and continues 1.7 miles easterly.

Bids will be opened July 25 in Sacramento. Approximately $97,000 is available for the project.

The second Monterey County project calls for reconstructing the deteriorating off-ramps of the Route 101 Freeway at its interchanges with Airport Boulevard, Sanborn Road and John Street.

Bids will be opened July 25 in Sacramento. Approximately $70,000 is available for the project.

Still Time For Seniors To File

Only 125,000 California homeowners of 62 years of age have filed 1973 claims for a reimbursement of their 1972-73 property taxes under California's Senior Citezens Property Tax Assistance Law, according to State Controller, Houston I. Flournoy.

Flournoy said the claims must be filed before October 15, 1973, to be valid. The law provides for reimbursement of up to 95 percent of property taxes, depending upon the individual's income. Assistance payments for 1972 totaled $59 million, for an individual average of $202.

Jewelry-Making Demonstration Is Friday Night

The Seaside Art Commission will present a free public lecture-demonstration on Jewelry-Making Art by Wayne Chezem of Salinas this Friday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m. in Seaside City Hall Council Chamber.

Mr. Chezem was the first chairman of Seaside Art Commission. He is now teaching arts and crafts at Salinas High School, after having taught at San Francisco Art Institute, Ft. Ord Craft Shop as Post Crafts Director, and the Correctional Training Facility of Soledad as Handicrafts Manager. He was the one who organized the annual Soledad Art Shows.

Mr. Chezem studied art at Oregon State University and at Oakland's California College of Arts and Crafts, where he was awarded the M.F.A. degree with highest distinction. Later, he did postgraduate works at Cal-Poly, San Luis Obispo, under silversmith J.B. Rea. For Friday's program, he will demonstrate Jewelry Casting and show some of his finished products.

Library Reading Clubs To Study Animals, Nature

On July 10 representatives of the Youth Science Center will bring an exhibit of small animals and tell about them to members of the summer reading clubs at the Seaside and Marina branch libraries. Miss Ruth Ann Forsberg, new children's librarian for the Monterey County Library, will also be on hand to tell stories.

The theme of the reading program this summer is "trailing wild animals," and children will be encouraged to read some books about animals and other aspects of nature study. Any child who can read is eligible to join and will be given a map of Santa Cruz and Monterey counties on which he can paste pictures of wild creatures native to the area. There is no age limit and each child can read at his own speed and follow his own interests.

The animal and story program will begin at 1 o'clock at the Emerson Branch Library, 1500 Imperial Street, Seaside. (Telephone 899-2055). At 2:30 it will move to the Marina Branch Library at 371 Carmel Avenue, Marina. (Telephone 384-6971). Attendance will not be limited to members of the reading clubs.

Rubella Test Required For Marriage

The Health Department has announced that a recently enacted California law became effective in Monterey County on July 1, requiring that an immunity test for rubella (German measles) be performed on females prior to issuance of a marriage license. The rubella test is in addition to the premartial blood test currently required for syphilis. However, one blood sample for both tests will normally be sufficient. Rubella test results will take several days to obtain because of the complexity of test; individuals contemplating marriage are therefore encouraged to contact their physician in sufficient time to satisfy this new requirement. Arrangements for the test can also be made at the Health Department at a cost of $6.75.

Rubella, usually considered a childhood disease, takes on special significance to the pregnant woman who contracts it. Like syphilis, it is capable of damaging or killing the unborn infant. The presence of antibodies to rubella confers immunity for the individual in whom the antibodies exist. . .an absence of antibodies indicates the individual has no protection against the disease.

Those women who are not immune may choose to be immunized on condition that they not become pregnant within the following 3 months. Those who are not immune, and who do not become immunized, run the risk of contracting rubella during pregnancy. Experience indicates that there is a 20% chance of fetal damage in such cases.
